

Home and Community Care Program for Younger People (HACC-PYP)

VMCH

Are you aged under 65 years and in need of a little assistance and support with everyday tasks?

Our government-funded, Home and Community Care Program for Younger People (HACC-PYP) could be for you!

HACC-PYP provides one-off, intermittent, or regular services to help you live independently and safely.

How do I access HACC-PYP?

The first step is to get in touch, and we can help you get started. We'll talk to you about your needs and assess your eligibility.

We're here for people under 65 years of age, who:

- Live in the eastern region of metropolitan Melbourne*
- Have chronic illness, mental health, disability or other condition that impacts on your day-to-day living
- Are at risk of losing your independence without support
- Are not accessing support services, such as the NDIS.

(*Boroondara, Knox, Manningham, Maroondah, Monash, Whitehorse and Yarra Ranges)

What services can I arrange?

Lots of helpful services to help keep you happy, healthy and independent:

- Personal care (showering, dressing, etc)
- Domestic assistance and household tasks
- Respite
- Shopping, community access and social activities
- Meal preparation.

What does it cost?

As HACC-PYP services are government-funded, you will only be expected to make a co-payment for the services you use.

HACC-PYP is not means tested, you do not need an income assessment and your disability pension will not be affected.
